Legislation to facilitate growth in local crypto market out for public consultation

Draft legislation has been put forward to give The Bahamas a clear competitive advantage with respect to digital asset solutions as financial technologies continue to drive growth in the financial services sector.

The Digital Assets and Registered Exchanges Bill, 2019 (DARE), which was developed by the Securities Commission of The Bahamas (SCB), provides solutions for digital asset applications and creates a proper regulatory framework for The Bahamas' crypto market.

"Disruptions caused by the digitization of the economy are leading to a new wave of regulatory reform. As countries around the world innovate new ways to safeguard against the erosion of their tax base, these developments will undoubtedly affect us here in The Bahamas. With the DARE legislation, we are looking to the future, anticipating and preparing for the changes on the horizon, forming coalitions to influence the nature of change," said Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Finance Peter Turnquest.

"The whole issue of crypto currencies and assets is very dynamic. We have been deliberate in creating a regulatory environment that safeguards the country's economic interests and shores up our global competitiveness. These efforts will help to grow our reputation as an innovative and responsive financial centre," said Minister Turnquest.

The Bahamas has a budding crypto ecosystem, including: crypto start-ups, exchanges, and traditional financial institutions servicing crypto companies. Requests continue to come to the Government from related businesses like crypto custodians, and companies conducting initial token offerings (ITOs) and security token offerings (STOs) that want to base their business in The Bahamas.

"New legislative initiatives will facilitate these growth opportunities and drive innovation and diversification in the industry. I look forward to presenting the Bill to Cabinet when the public consultation phase is complete," said Minister Turnquest.

Oasis of the Seas collapsed. Eight people were injured - none life threatening.

State Minister of Grand Bahama, Kwasi Thompson - who was on site, yesterday noted that three to four of the victims have already been discharged from hospital.

The Minister said the government has been assured that the necessary procedures were in place at the time of the incident.

"Their emergency procedure worked, as a result of their emergency procedures working, there was no loss of life and injuries were kept to a minimum, but an investigation has to take place and answers must come forth.

"So we are unable at this time to speak to the cause of the accident; we are unable at this time to say whether there was any issue that caused what took place," Minister Thompson said.

This is undoubtedly a setback for the shipyard as the damaged dock is the primary one used for cruise ship work.

Deputy Prime Minister and East Grand Bahama

MP, Peter Turnquest said, "they do have two other dry docks that will continue in operation. In fact they have some ongoing works now that will recommence this morning (Tuesday) and they will also be able to do work alongside the peer for works that can be done in that way.

"There is anticipated to be some slowdown in the amount of work they can manage, but they do have a commitment to continue forward and maintain as much as the employment as they can," Mr. Turnquest said.

Students Simulate United Nations Delegates

Students and teachers of high schools in New Providence and the Family Islands participated in a Bahamas Rotary Clubs Model United Nations Simulation (MUNS) on Friday at Holy Trinity Activity Centre, Stapledon Gardens. In this mock UN session the students debated the topic, 'Water for Life: Ensuring Availability and Sustainable Management of Water and Sanitation,' with awards presented to those who were most effective.

Delivering remarks on behalf of Minister of Foreign Affairs, the Hon. Darren Henfield, was Permanent Secretary Jack Thompson, who expressed his delight at attending the event and praised the participants for their hard work. He said the debate was happening at a pivotal moment in the world.

"We gather at a time when faith in multilateralism is being tested globally, when there is concern about the efficacy and fairness of the rules-based order grounded in international law, and when the collective will to resolve our planet's biggest challenges -- such as climate change, poverty and human rights is in doubt," said Mr. Thompson.

The Permanent Secretary noted that the government is committed to doing its part in order to be a good steward of its own natural resources, such as water.

"The Bahamas remains a firm believer in both the necessity and promise of multilateralism, in particular with respect to institutions such as the United Nations," he said. "As a small state with big ambitions, we depend on institutions such as the United Nations to engage the world in our interests and to enforce the rules-based frameworks that allow for big states and small states alike to compete on a level playing field."

Director General of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Mrs. Sharon Brennen-Haylock said that all measures must be taken in order to ensure water safety.

"Water safety and availability is of importance to The Bahamas, whether it has to do with sanitation, hygiene, fresh and safe drinking water, or water as it pertains to the management of our oceans and maritime resources," said the Director. "Climate change has impacted water supplies and the marine biodiversity and has obliged us to pay greater attention to these precious resources."

Speaking on behalf of President of Rotary International, Barry Rassin, was Mrs. Sheila Bethel, Chair of MUNS and the Rotary Public Image Coordinator. Mrs. Bethel thanked the participants and said that as climate change and global warming continue to affect the world, more understanding about the global crisis and solutions to issues are key to addressing the impending challenges.

"This is an issue, which will impact you, our youth, and it is imperative that we as a global entity and particularly as Bahamians, with our vulnerability to sea level variation, be aware of the urgent need for us to take action now, not later when it will, in fact, be too late."

The participating schools and the countries they represented included: Aquinas College (United States); North Long Island High School (Brazil); Mary Star of the Sea Catholic Academy (Haiti);

Central Eleuthera High School (Yemen); Lucaya International School (Venezuela); Jack Hayward High School (Switzerland); Patrick Bethel High School (The Netherlands); Sunland Baptist Academy (China); St. John's College (Cuba); NGM Major High School (South Africa); C.C. Sweeting High School (The Bahamas); Queen's College (Costa Rica); St. Francis de Sales (Israel); St. Augustine's College (Sudan); and Forest Heights Academy (UN Secretariat).

In attendance were Mrs. Patricia Minnis, of the Office of the Spouse of the Prime Minister, and diplomatic and Rotary Clubs representatives.

Union Calls For WSC

reporters, BUSAWU president, Dwayne Woods, insisted that the union members had only withdrawn their enthusiasm and it was not a demonstration or protest, as they were not in possession of a strike certificate.

Woods and the union are accusing the corporation of attempting to bust the union by rolling back four major benefits, including union or administrative leave, meeting place, rental space, and accrued vacation.

"These matters are breaches of the Industrial Agreement between WSC and BUSAWU, the Industrial Relations Act as well as the Employment Act.

"While these matters are being adjudicated at the Department of Labour and the Supreme Court, the Executive Chairman and the General Manager have already suspended one of our members for 15 days with pay pending investigation.

"The Corporation would like for him to take ownership of the alleged allegation of the Executive Chairman renting his vehicles from the Corporation's compound. To this the Union says no way!" Mr. Woods said.

Another bone of contention for the union was that another union member was suspended for five days without pay. They claim that the Corporation was using an incorrect breach of discipline and an unwritten and unknown policy. Mr. Woods said that this move is an added "insult to injury".

"The member parked his personal vehicle on WSC compound from Friday to Monday due to a dead battery. In a meeting with the General Manager and his management team, in the absence of a Human Resources professional, the Union requested to see the policy which the Corporation said was breached, but it could not be produced.

"The Union corrected the interpretation of the breach of discipline being used, as the Union representative was the sole professional present at that meeting to explain the intent of the article during negotiations.

"However, the Corporation after consultation, advisement and command from the Executive Chairman via phone call, decided to be judge, jury and executioner," Mr. Woods said.

The Union leader further alleged that the Corporation continues to practice "unfair and inconsistent promotional exercises", claiming that "friends, family and lovers are being promoted over hardworking individuals.

"In addition, there are inconsistent levying of penalties of discipline to our members from the office of the Executive Chairman and the General Manager, without the experience and expertise of Human Resources.

"We demand that Human Resources be allowed to function without the interference of the office of the Executive Chairman and the General Manager," Mr. Woods said.

The union is now calling on the Minister of Public Works, Desmond Bannister, the Prime Minister and all stakeholders to remove the Executive Chairman and the General Manager post haste.

"The Executive Chairman is micro managing the organization and creating chaos. He is not allowing the General Manager, Human Resources Manager, nor the Financial Controller to perform in their capacities.

Weighing in on the standoff, Progressive Liberal Party Chairman, Fred Mitchell expressed concern that the government has allowed this to happen, adding that the issues must be settled amicably in favor of the workers as soon as possible and in the interest of the people.

Mr. Mitchell suggested that Cabinet have a word with the Executive Chairman and ask him to draw back forthwith of be dismissed.

Labour Minister, Dion Foulkes meantime, encouraged WSC Union Executives, its board and management to come to the table for a resolution of the issues.

"None of them seem to be insurmountable; they're all said to be administrative issues, there's no major issues there that cannot be solved.

"So, I'd like to encourage both sides to sit down and have a discussion. The supply of water, the access to water is very important for Bahamians, so, we'd like to see that service uninterrupted," Mr. Foulkes said.

BAHAMIAN FINED FOR TRAFFIC DEATH

traffic accident the happened on February 2, 2019.

According to the prosecution's particulars, on that date, police received reports of an accident on Soldier Road and Spencer Court.

When police arrived on the scene, they met a grey Nissan Primera with four passenger including, Rolle, Avery Francis, Dereck Taylor and Latura Penn. The four had to be extracted from the vehicle with the help of "the jaws of life".

They were all taken to the Princess Margaret Hospital. Subsequently, Penn succumbed to his injuries on Sunday, February 3.

An autopsy was performed on Penn, which revealed that he had multiple injuries and blunt force trauma to the body.

Earlier police reports said that the vehicle was driving south on Soldier Road, when the driver lost control of the vehicle and slammed into a utility pole and then a wall.

Rolle was subsequently fined by Magistrate Kara Turnquest-Deveaux, $10,000 or one year in prison on count one, $250 or three months in prison on count two, and $250 or three months in prison on count three.

Half of the sum must be paid upfront and the remaining, by June 21st.

Beware of the Gaslighter!

By Jerry Hutchinson

"If you tell a big enough lie and tell it frequently enough, it will be believed." - Adolf Hitler

One of the problems with getting most of your information from social media is that it is sometimes difficult to fact check what you are hearing or thought you heard. This is a very compromising position to be in as, it makes you susceptible to manipulation. But have no fear, below is all the information you will ever (hopefully) need to navigate this minefield as we deal with others. The news media are past masters at gaslighting its readers. They deflect; reframe; and distort reports especially those which exposes their patrons in a poor light. They are incorrigible; it's a waste of time to expect them to change and report the news as news without putting some spin on it. Lately, this type of psychological tactic is being more frequently used to confuse the public., We need to protect ourselves against the political machinations of some of the press and manipulations of families and friends.so, let's explore gaslighting and how to recognize it. First a definition:

"Gas lighting is a tactic in which a person or entity, in order to gain more power, makes a victim question their reality. It works much better than you may think. Anyone is susceptible to gaslighting, and it is a common technique of abusers, dictators, narcissists, and cult leaders. It is done slowly, so the victim doesn't realize how much they've been brainwashed. For example, in the movie Gaslight (1944), a man manipulates his wife to the point where she thinks she is losing her mind" So, how do you determine you are being gaslighted?

1. They tell blatant lies: You know it's an outright lie. Yet they are telling you this lie with a straight face. Why are they so blatant? Because they're setting up a precedent. Once they tell you a huge lie, you're not sure if anything they say is true. Keeping you unsteady and off-kilter is the goal.
2. They deny they ever said something, even though you have proof. You know they said they would do something; you know you heard it. But they out and out deny it. It makes you start questioning your reality—maybe they never said that thing. And the more they do this, the more you question your reality and start accepting theirs.
3. They use what is near and dear to you as ammunition: They know how important your kids are to you, and they know how important your identity is to you. So those may be one of the first things they attack. If you have kids, they tell you that you should not have had those children. They will tell you'd be a worthy person if only you didn't have a long list of negative traits. They attack the foundation of your being.
4. They wear you down over time: This is one of the insidious things about gaslighting—it is done gradually, over time. A lie here, a lie there, a snide comment every so often...and then it starts ramping up. Even the brightest, most self-aware people can be sucked into gaslighting; it is that effective. It's the "frog in the frying pan" analogy: The heat is turned up slowly, so the frog never realizes what's happening to it.
5. Their actions do not match their words: When dealing with a person or entity that gaslights, look at what they are doing rather than what they are saying. What they are saying means nothing; it is just talk. What they are doing is the issue.

6. They throw in positive reinforcement to confuse you: This person or entity that is cutting you down, telling you that you don't have value, is now praising you for something you did. This adds an additional sense of uneasiness. You think, "Well maybe they aren't so bad." Yes, they are. This is a calculated attempt to keep you off-kilter—and again, to question your reality. Also look at what you were praised for; it is probably something that served the gaslighter.
 7. They know confusion weakens people: Gas lighters know that people like having a sense of stability and normalcy. Their goal is to uproot this and make you constantly question everything. A humans' natural tendency is to look to the person or entity that will help you feel more stable—and that happens to be the gaslighter.
 8. They project: They are a drug users, a cheater or corrupt, yet they are constantly accusing you of that. This is done so often that you start trying to defend yourself and are distracted from the gas lighter's own behaviour.
 9. They try to align people against you: Gas lighters are masters at manipulating and finding the people they know will stand by them no matter what—and they use these people against you. They will make comments such as, "This person knows that you're not right," or "This person knows you're useless too." Keep in mind it does not mean that these people said these things. A gaslighter uses this tactic, it makes you feel like you don't know who to trust or turn to and that leads you right back to the gaslighter. And that's exactly what they want: Isolation gives them more control.
 10. They tell you or others that you are crazy: This is one of the most effective tools of the gaslighter, because it's dismissive. The gaslighter knows if they question your sanity, people will not believe you when you tell them the gaslighter is abusive or out-of-control. It's a master technique.
 11. They tell you everyone else is a liar: By telling you that everyone else (your family, the media) is a liar, it again makes you question your reality. You've never known someone with the audacity to do this, so they must be telling the truth, right? No. It's a manipulation technique. It makes people turn to the gas lighter for the "correct" information—which isn't correct information at all. The more you are aware of these techniques, the quicker you can identify them and avoid falling into the gas lighter's trap.

IMMIGRATION LAW CHANGES

At long last the government of the Bahamas is making some attempt to give the rights to persons who were born in the Bahamas, who are awaiting the grant of citizenship. Over the many years, successive government administrations have been very tardy in granting citizenship to persons who are entitled.

There are thousands of individuals across the Bahamas, and some who have since left the country who have been waiting for a response to their applications for years. Some of them felt as though they were stateless and feared that they would be deported. Currently, Article 7 of the Bahamas constitution states that a person born in the Bahamas after independence, "neither of whose parents is a citizen shall be entitled, upon making application on his attaining the age of eighteen years or within twelve months thereafter to be registered as a citizen of the Bahamas."

Despite this, many persons who have applied, did not receive citizenship and remained in the country. Recently the Law Reform Commission headed by Dame Anita Allen, drafted legislation to give these persons a right of abode under The Nationality, Immigration and Asylum Bill of 2019.

The bill which was presented to the Cabinet, has been circulated for consultation, a process which is essential to reform, namely, receiving input from interested stakeholders and the general public.

As we understand, the consultations will embrace a large cross-section of the public.

We congratulate Dame Anita and her staff for the great work done. Now Bahamians can go into one Act and find the definition and clarity of constitutional rights. It facilitates processes that have been stymied by bureaucratic inaction and those public servants who have failed to carry out their responsibilities under the law. The new Act gives applicants a clear path for judicial action. This landmark legislation is fundamental to the way forward in the Bahamas, as it will be used for many decades into the future.

The constitution cannot be amended without a referendum agreed to by the electorate. However the constitution is silent on certain matters, including, what happens to individuals who apply before their 18th birthday, or after their 19th birthday.

The new law establishes a "right of abode," or a right to live, in The Bahamas for anyone born in The Bahamas to foreign parents while they are a minor before they reach age 18. It also establishes a right to live in The Bahamas for anyone born outside The Bahamas to a Bahaman mother who is a minor.

The bill also establishes clearly who is allowed to land in The Bahamas and the power of Immigration officers to grant permission to land and reside in The Bahamas.

The bill also clearly defines who is a visitor to The Bahamas. What is also significant is that the bill removes the power from the Cabinet by establishing an Immigration Board to be appointed by the Cabinet.

The new legislation is very progressive and should bring comfort to many persons who have suffered through the indecision of the government and from any ambiguity in the Immigration laws of the Bahamas.

New Airport Coming for Long Island

► At a Town Meeting on Thursday, March 28, at North Long Island High School in Simms, Minister of Tourism and Aviation (MOTA), the Hon. Dionisio D'Aguilar addressed the Long Island community on plans for a new airport, giving status report on progress towards this goal. Long Island residents also heard from the island's Member of Parliament Adrian Gibson, and Director of Aviation Algernon Cargill. Prior to the town meeting, Minister D'Aguilar toured the airport runway and current terminal and met with nearby residents who would likely have to relocate to facilitate the construction of the new airport. At the town hall, he announced procedure towards creation of a new airport inclusive of the current review process of tenders from the recent RFP for architectural and engineering services, for which the winning bidder will be announced over the next week. WEAK JUSTICE SYSTEM HAMPERS DRUG WAR was within 90 days for minor offenses, for more serious matters, like those involving trafficking, smuggling, firearms, or gang violence, along with regular adjournments and prolonged cases, in some instances, these lasted for several years.

US officials determined that as a result, many accused choose to go to trial, confident the courts will take years to move their case through the system and the government will eventually drop the charges.

The report acknowledged that despite the challenges, the judiciary has begun making important improvements.

Last year, the Magistrate Courts, Supreme Court, and Court of Appeal introduced U.S.-provided digital audio recording equipment to record procedures.

The improvement is expected to increase both the transparency and efficiency of the criminal justice sector.

The report also noted that the country's population is around some 350,000 people and with the vast territory to cover, pooling U.S. and local resources and knowledge are essential to efficient deterrence and interdiction.

The statement said, "Beginning in January, four major law enforcement operations targeting trafficking networks were executed within The Bahamas in 2018.

"All four operations resulted in multiple arrests, as well as weapons and drug interdictions."

"For three of the four operations, the Royal Bahamas Police Force and the Royal Bahamas Defense Force worked in partnership - a first in many years and a sign of increasing cooperation between the two agencies."

The report also noted that during the first 10 months on 2018, coordinated efforts led to 203 arrests and the seizure of approximately 176 kilograms of cocaine, 5.66 metric tons of marijuana, and $1,693,809 in currency and $43,400 in assets.

There was also a 2,520 eradication of cannabis plant similar to that of 2017.

It also noted that as it relates to corruption, the government does not, as a matter of government policy, encourage or facilitate illicit drug production or distribution, nor is it involved in laundering the proceeds of the sale of illicit drugs.

It was pointed out that while The Bahamas is not a significant drug producing country, it remains a significant transshipment point for illicit drugs bound for the United States and other international markets due to its location.

NetSmartz Campaign' set for April launch in New Providence

The National Child Protection Council (NCPC) will launch its 'NetSmartz Campaign' in New Providence during the month of April as part of the activities observing Child Protection Month.

The NetSmartz Campaign highlights the dangers associated with the improper use of the Internet. The campaign had "an extremely successful" Pilot in Long Island during a recent visit by NCPC officials in March 2019.

Child Protection Month has been observed annually in the Commonwealth of The Bahamas since 1992 – marking 27 consecutive years. The month, is a collaboration between the Child Protection Unit of the Department of Social Services, Ministry of Social Services and Urban Development; the National Child Protection Council; and the Suspected Child Abuse and Neglect (SCAN) Unit of the Ministry of Health.

Dr. Novia T. Carter-Lookie, a noted Bahamian child psychologist and Deputy Chairperson of the National Child Protection Council, said the Internet has drastically changed the way that "wired children" interact with the world.

"Wired children (alpha generation) have access to in-depth knowledge, tools to express their creativity, and people from all over the world. Yet this fascinating new way to connect to friends, family and the world, offers new risks to our young, impressionable minds."

Dr. Carter-Lookie said the National Child Protection Council will use the NetSmartz Programme to address the new risks in the following manner: inappropriate content, online privacy, sexting, online sexual solicitation and cyber-bullying.

The programme seeks to educate children on how to recognize potential internet risks; engages children in a two-way conversation about on and offline risks; and empowers children to help prevent themselves from being exploited and to report victimization to a trusted adult.

"Trusted adult is such a wonderful topic because parents feel that they should make up the rules in terms of who is the child's trusted adult," Dr. Carter-Lookie said. "I think parents should guide children in deciding who their trusted adult should be, but ultimately the decision should be the child's; the adult whom they feel they can trust; whom they feel safe with; whom they respect; whom [they] feel will listen to them and whom they feel will assist them best if they are in a dangerous situation.

"The Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC) grants children certain rights and so they have the right to choose who their trusted adult should be. What I would say to parents is that they should talk to their child/children about it and guide them in the right direction; but ultimately the child/children should have the right to decide whom their trusted adult should be."

Dr. Carter-Lookie outlined the criteria for selecting a trusted adult.

"A trusted adult should be someone who will have the child's best interests at heart; someone whom the child has a good relationship with. This should be a person whom the child/children can turn to when they have a problem. This is the person whom the child/children can turn to if something bad happens to them. This is someone whom when the child/children have a difficult or embarrassing question, they can turn to for appropriate answers.

"Trusted adults should be persons who will ensure that they receive proper guidance, and should be the person who, if abuse is happening in a child's life, will stop the abuse."

Dr. Lookie addressed the kinds of persons who may be considered trusted adults for children.

"We encourage children (in collaboration with parents) to consider as their trusted adults: nurses, the police, their teachers, parents, and grandparents. For each child, the trusted adult may be different, but I want each child to realize that they should have a cadre – maybe four or five people – whom they can consider trusted adults so

Sands Tees Up for BGF Sands Cup Golf Series

Keeping golf competitive and encouraging its growth, The Bahamas Golf Federation (BGF) announced that the Sands Beer Cup series of golf tournaments, sponsored by Bahamian Brewery and Beverage Co Ltd. (BBB), will continue as of April 2019.

"We are very happy with the growth of these tournaments during the last 2 years," said BBB General Manager of Nassau and The Family Islands, Gary Sands. "We thank the BGF for the opportunity to participate in this series of golf in The Bahamas."

The Sands Beer Cup series kicks off April 6th and 7th with the Grand Bahama Open in Freeport to take place at the Lucayan Reef Golf Course. The series will continue with the National Amateur Championships in Nassau at Albany, as well as tournaments at Lyford Cay, Ocean Club and Baha Mar's, Royal Blue. Tournaments will also take place in Exuma and Abaco, with the winner being revealed in October.

All Sands Beer Cup events will be based on individual stroke play, scoring on a Modified Stapleford basis. Golfers will need to play a minimum number of rounds to qualify to win the Cup. The player with the best total Net Stapleford points (over the selected number of rounds) will be declared the 2019 Sands Beer Cup winner.

"James 'Jimmy' Sands, President of Bahamian Brewery, has given us tremendous assistance," said Mr. Lynford Miller, BGF President. "We are extremely pleased to continue the partnership with Sands Beer, who have been instrumental in helping our Golf Federation bring golf back to the forefront of sport in our country."

The Sands Beer Cup inaugural series was won by Ural Pratt in 2017, with Stephen Johnson claiming the title in 2018. This year prizes will be awarded to overall winners plus divisional prizes. Some of the prizes include a weekend stay for 2 at the Hope Town Harbour Lodge and two round trip tickets on Sky Bahamas. Additionally, prizes will be awarded separately for each tournament.

'NETSMARTZ CAMPAIGN' SET FOR APRIL that if something happens to them; if they have a question to ask; if they just want someone to listen to them, those persons are ready, willing and available to assist.

"And so that is why we tell our children that if they tell one trusted adult and that person does not respond, they keep on telling other trusted adults until they receive the help that they want and/or need."

Dr. Carter-Lookie said the NCPD has developed four safety rules parents should encourage their children to follow when using the Internet. They are as follows: I will tell my trusted adult if anything makes me feel sad, scared or confused; I will ask my trusted adult before sharing information such as my name, address and phone number; I won't meet face-to-face with anyone from the Internet; and I will always use good etiquette and not be rude or mean online.

"Those four rules are designed to ensure that our children are kept safe whilst online. It helps them to understand how to interact online. It helps them to recognize danger online and most importantly, it helps our children to realize that certain behaviours are acceptable and unacceptable online.

"The two major ones for me are children releasing personal information online, and the other one is children feeling that it's okay to meet persons face-to-face since they may have spoken to the person online for two to three months. And so those four rules are basically geared to safeguard our children," Dr. Carter-Lookie added.
